Cleaning Campaign by the members of NVSS

Date: 25th August, 2007

Venue: Changjiji Housing Colony

The members of Nopkin.com and other interested volunteers carried out yet another cleaning campaign this time at the clustered housing colony at Changjiji. There were about 30 members.

The campaign was in continuation to the initiation taken by the same group who earlier clean swept the Thimphu city.

A highly populated residential area, vast and spread, the members walked around the colony picking every bit of paper and cleaning the drains. Two truck-loads of garbage were collected.

The campaign was both productive and educative. Residents not only appreciated the contribution and to some extent the members were able to instill some sense of responsibility in them.

City Corporation extended full support, both in terms of manpower and equipments. They rendered some 10 volunteers, hoes, spades, gloves, sacks and the pick-up trucks.
